AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the Vigor is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

Mr. C. P. BRICHER writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

J. W. BOWEN, proprietor of the McArthur (Ohio) Enquirer, says: "AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The Vigor is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

Mr. ANGUS FAIRBAIN, leader of the celebrated "Fairbairn Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1880: "Ever since my hair began to give silvery evidence of the change which fleeting time propereeth, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public."

Mrs. O. A. PRESCOTT, writing from 18 Elm St., Charlestown, Mass., April 14, 1882, says: "Two years ago about two-thirds of my hair came off. It thinned very rapidly, and I was fast growing bald. On using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR the falling stopped and a new growth commenced, and in about a month my head was completely covered with short hair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as before it fell. I regularly used but one bottle of the Vigor, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.

Welsh Choirs.

The members composing a choir are often scattered over a wide extent of territory—so that regular weekly, or even monthly, meetings of the choir are impossible. For instance, one of the choirs in the late contest has a membership spread over a district forty miles in extent, with no means of communication but the rough country wagon or the long tramp afoot. When a new chorus is to be learned, the various members will procure, if they can afford it, one copy for each member of the family, or, if the work is expensive, one copy for the whole family. Then the neighboring families will meet once or twice a week at each other's houses, the best reader among them is appointed leader, and they go to work with no instrument but a pitch-pipe, or tuning-fork, to master the figures of Handel or Haydn. There is something almost pathetic in the picture of these hard-worked men and women, and even little children, meeting thus, surrounded by the grimy waste of a mining district, and setting to work with loving patience to master, unassisted, the musical thoughts of the greatest genius. When all these small parties have mastered the chorus—which they do so thoroughly that they commit it to memory—a meeting of the whole choir is held, numbering from 10 to 300, in some church, or school, or railway station, and the leader of the choir, himself usually a miner, holds a grand review of the work done by his lieutenant. The whole work is gone over carefully and thoroughly, and, after the singing of some of the old home songs in the mother tongue, the various groups separate for the long walk or ride through the woods and over the mountains, to repeat the process with another chorus. The choirs that live in the neighborhood of towns have, of course, many advantages over those that have to conduct their rehearsals in this fragmentary way, having the opportunity of frequent meetings and the constant presence of their regular leader, and in some instances the aid of instruments.

One of the chief characteristics of the singing of these Welsh choirs is their confidence and vigor in attack, a quality that is sadly wanting in nearly all our choruses; this is probably owing to the fact that every member of the choir is so confident of his knowledge of his part that he never feels it necessary to lean on his neighbor or wait for him to show him the way. It is also remarkable with them that, although the singing at their concerts is always unaccompanied, they rarely vary from the pitch, even the long and difficult choruses that conclude Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" being sung by nearly all the choirs in their late contest without falling or rising from the pitch. Their weakest point is the quality of the tone—this, probably owing to the large number of boys and girls with unformed voices, and devoid of knowledge of how to use them, is inclined to be nasal, on the higher notes somewhat harsh. These are blemishes, however, for which they are not responsible, and they in no wise detract from the real excellence of their performances.—Philadelphia American.

An Unreliable Man.

"Look out for him," said Huestetter McGinnis, referring to a prominent Austin gentleman, "he is a hypocrite, and will play you a bad trick some day, just like he did me."

"What did he do to you?"

"What did he do? I borrowed ten dollars of him, and the double-eyed scoundrel tried to make me pay it back. Look out for him. I tell you, you can't rely on him."—Texas Siftings.

Venetian Sunsets.

Words cannot be formed to express the endless varieties of Venetian sunset. The most magnificent follow after wet, stormy days, when the west-breaks suddenly into a labyrinth of fire, when chasms of clear turquoise heavens emerge and horis of flame are flashed to the zenith and unexpected splendors scale the fretted clouds, step over step, stealing along the purple caverns till the whole dome throbs. Or, again, after a fair day, a change of weather approaches, and high, infinitely high, the skies are woven over with a web of half-transparent, iridescent clouds. These in the afterglow blush crimson, and through their rims the death of heaven is of a hard and gem-like blue, and all the water turns to rose beneath them. I remember one such evening near Torcello. We were well on at sea between Mazzorbo and Murano. The ruddy arches overhead were reflected without interruption in the waveless ruddy lake below. Our black boat was the only dark spot in this sphere of splendor. We seemed to hang suspended; and such as this, I fancied, must be the feeling of an insect caught in the heart of a fiery-petalled rose. Yet not these melodramatic sunsets alone are beautiful. Even more exquisite, perhaps, are the lagoons, painted in monochrome of grays, with just one touch of pink upon a western cloud, scattered in ripples here and there on the waves below, reminding us that day has passed and evening come. And beautiful again are the calm settings of fair weather, when sea and sky all are cheerful, and the topmost blades of the lagoon grass, peeping from the shallows, glance like emeralds upon the surface. There is no deep stirring of the spirit in a symphony of light and color. But purity, peace and freshness make their way into our hearts.—Fraser's Magazine.

Did Him a Favor.

A few days since a prominent member of the Board of Trade was summoned to sit as a jurymen in one of the courts of record. Now, however much business men may regret that our jury system is such that incompetent and unfit men may get upon juries, they do not care to improve the system at personal loss, and each term of court sees them urging their claims to be excused. The gentleman in question made an application to be excused, and, after being sworn, stated that he could not serve except at considerable pecuniary loss to himself.

"What is the nature of your business?" inquired the Court.

"I am a grain merchant."

"Where do you transact your business principally?"

"On the Board of Trade."

"Well, I think I shall, under the circumstances, do you a favor."

"Thank your Honor," said the merchant, bowing gratefully and staring for the door.

"Hold on! Hold on!" exclaimed the Court. "The favor I refer to is this: If you were to go down to the Board of Trade you would likely get cornered on wheat (is that the correct term?) and lose your money. I'll save you from loss by keeping you here. Swear the jury, Mr. Clerk!"—Detroit Free Press.

—A correspondent of the American Cultivator gives the following as a rule for the location of a storm: "The wind almost always blows in a circle around a storm, and when it blows from the north the heaviest rain is east of you; if it blows from the south, the heaviest rain is west, if it blows from the east, the heaviest rain is south; if from the west, the heaviest rain is north of you."

The firm of Mohr & Mohr, distillers and rectifiers, of Cincinnati, made an assignment on Saturday. Their liabilities are reckoned at $200,000.

SECRETARY FOLGER has sent to the House Committee on Appropriations a communication stating the deficiencies in the appropriations for the various departments for the fiscal year ending June 30th next, as follows: State, $20,095; Treasury, $36,831; War, $1,016,793; Navy, $13,340; Interior, $396,364; Post-office, $17,500; Justice, $3,082. Total, $1,504,004.

A novel and commendable method of instructing the people in the issues which will be prominent in the national canvass of next year, is suggested by some South Carolina papers. They recommend that the party clubs throughout the State hold meetings for the discussion of political and economic subjects. It is argued that this is a safer and wiser way than to neglect the work until a heated and exciting canvass has begun.

According to the Washington Star the President recently told a New England Senator "that while he was anxious to have this Congress pass a bill to revise the tariff, he was fearful on account of the lateness of the session and the diversified interest in the bill that it would fail." Being asked if he would call an extra session of Congress if the bill did fail, the President said: "That is an emergency I will not consider until it arises."

It is semi-officially announced from Frankfort that troops will be sent to Carter county next Monday to protect the prisoners, Neal and Craft. It is not stated what companies will be called into service, but it is thought the lately organized Second regiment only will be ordered to the front, with perhaps a section of the Louisville artillery. The Governor is emphatic in his declaration that is his intention to see that the law is not violated and that Neal and Craft have a fair trial by jury, even though it requires the mustering of 2,000 men into active service. Ammunition has arrived at Frankfort and other supplies are being provided preparatory to a request for troops by Judge Brown.

The Chicago Times says: It will please sincere and earnest Christians to learn that Secretary Teller is taking energetic steps to break up the evil habits of dancing among the Indians. In addition to the square dance and the round dance, which have debased the frivolous young people of this country, the Indians have the scalp dance, the war dance, the sun dance, and a great many other dances, all equally wicked with those which Christian people have deplored and condemned. The prevention of this sinful and worldly pleasure among the giddy redskins is undoubtedly the first essential step to their complete reformation.

In the Senate of the United States on Saturday, a petition was presented from the Council of the Six Nations asking recognition of their interest in certain Kansas lands. The Tariff Bill was amended by further reduction in the iron schedule. In the House the Tariff Bill was considered in committee of the whole and remarks were made upon it by Mr. Carlisle and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Richeson left by the afternoon train for Cincinnati attended by the good wishes of all their friends in this city.

THE Boyd county grand jury has adjourned after being in session eighteen days. Twenty-one persons were indicted for being connected with the recent mob in that county. All these people live at Ashland and some of them are the most prominent citizens of the town. The latter were not active participants, but are charged with confederating with and aiding and abetting the mob.

Washington Opera House.

On next Friday night, February 2nd, J. H. Havlin's famous "Fogg's Ferry Combination" will occupy the Opera House producing for the first time here, C. E. Callahan's romantic and picturesque comedy drama, the reigning success and sensation of the season "Fogg's Ferry," with the sprightly and bewitching young vocalist soubrette, Miss Carrie Stuart, in her exquisite and charming character creation "Chip," the ferryman's daughter.

Our exchanges are unanimous in opinion that no play recently given to the dramatic world has achieved in so short a space of time, such deservedly widespread popularity; no performances so thoroughly relished, fully patronized and appreciated as those given by "Havlin's Fogg's Ferry Combination." No star so completely captivates her audiences as the winsome and sparkling little "Carrie Stuart."

Fogg's Ferry partakes to a certain extent of the Bartley Campbell school of comely drama, and although associated with such plays as "My Partner," "The Danites," and "M'Liss," is similarly ends with the fact of its being located also in the far West. It is a more refined comely and dwells more in the eccentric phrases of human nature. It possesses a charm in its delicately drawn passages of pathos and the sparkle of its genuine humor, which is almost entirely lost to view in the above named pieces. It turns upon the career of a little girl elf whose rugged early training simply adds a greater charm to the refined character which adorns the sequel, and has been very aptly described by a St. Louis paper as an "American Fanchon." Miss Stuart is credited with having a peculiarly attractive style of her own molding, (preferring to be an original rather than a copyist,) and although at times reminding one vividly of Lotta and Maggie Mitchell her interpretation of "Chip" always proves a gem of art carrying with it its native beauty.

A DESPATCH from Lexington to the Cincinnati Times-Star says:

As the time draws near for the Neal and Craft trial at Grayson, Carter county, the feeling of uneasiness among the people here continues to grow. There is no doubt of the fact that another attempt will be made to mob the prisoners, not by citizens of Carter county, but by those parties who were engaged in a similar futile attempt last October. Gov. Blackburn's stated determination to place Major Allen again in command of the State militia has also had an effect of influencing the minds of the people of Ashland and Boyd counties, because it recalls the scene of the last slaughter.

Neal and Craft themselves express more fear over the result of the coming trial than former ones, while there is no doubt that upon a fair and impartial hearing of their cases, the verdict of the jury will be one of acquittal. And right here is where the trouble will likely occur. If the prisoners are acquitted they will never be allowed to leave Carter county alive. It is true they would have a right, under the law, to appeal to the court for protection, but so firm is the conviction in the minds of the people of their guilt, that conviction will likely result in an attempt at violence upon their persons. This is the present status of affairs. The State troops will likely be ordered to move on the 5th of February, about 800 to 1,000 strong.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mr. J. E. Keller, of Lexington, is in the city to-day.

Judge Stanton is confined to his room to-day by a severe cold.

Rev. John Manker, for more than sixty years a minister of the Gospel, died at Sardinia, O., last week.

Mr. Henry H. Keller, Secretary and Treasurer of the National Mutual Benefit Association of Louisville, is in the city.

Bled to Death.

Coroner Cockerell was called upon Monday afternoon to hold an inquest on the body of Wallace Paris, colored, who died about four o'clock that afternoon, at Dan Mann's place on Market street. The jury decided that death had been caused by hemorrhage of the lungs. The deceased was about thirty-five years of age and lived on Grant street.

Miss Emma Hull, of Missouri, who is visiting relatives at Flemingsburg, is expected to visit Mrs. Malinda Wallingford and the family of H. Clay Stone this week.

Martin Hefflin, a former resident of this place, is paying a visit to relatives in this county but will return to Texas in a few days, where he is now making his home.

Charlie Wallingford, of Fern Leaf, was here last week, returning home on Wednesday and taking his brother Joe, with him for a short stay.

The Brown brothers below town have sold their crop of tobacco to Best, of Helena, at $12 per hundred.

During last week we attended two dinings, where the tables were sumptuously and bountifully spread. One at Joe Wallingford's and the other at Basil Calvert's.

A gentleman after reading the last item from "One Eye Open" said to us: "Don't you reply to this in your next correspondence. It is not worthy of notice." But we find, however, that we can not resist the temptation to say that the gentleman and true lady are known as well by the production from their pen as they are by their manners. But then it may be that it does not require as high-toned civility in Hoosierdom, the state from which "One Eye Open" came, to be considered a gentleman as it does in the grand old Commonwealth of Kentucky. When "One Eye Open" threw down the gauntlet, and we accepted the challenge, only for amusement, we supposed that we had a "foeman worthy of our steel," but now, discovering our mistake we retire from the contest.

MURPHYSVILLE.

If you see anybody that has anything to do with this weather, please send them this way; we have got something for him.

We admire "Reporter's" said, but his judgment is N. G. He is in the same sad predicament of the bull that tried to butt the locomotive off the railroad track.

Owing to the cold weather and rough roads the literary society was almost a failure last Tuesday night.

North Fork was higher Sunday than it has been this winter.

Miss Ella Prather returned to our village Saturday evening. She will teach a spring term of school at Fern Leaf.

Mr. James Gow, of Minerva, formerly a resident of the Commonwealth, is visiting relatives here.

Everybody put up ice last Wednesday. The quality is not very good.

Get Billy Wells to tell you about two certain flies that followed his mules all last summer. It takes the bake shop.

A knock down of small proportions took place in the bridge Sunday morning. The boys hunted a dry place to fall, but both kept on their pins all right. The exact cause of the row is a mystery to us. As for one promises losing a little of its outer surface, no other damage was done.

Since the thorn bush question is at fever heat the managers of this turnpike had better see to it that several such obstructions are removed from the sides of their road. We noticed between this place and Washington the other day, three bushes, whose limbs extended far "over the hog path." Our other eye is in danger; hence these remarks.

Mr. J. H. Wright looks just too sweet for anything, minus his beard.

Mr. Jean Berry, of swingle tree fame returned from Pennsylvania, last week.

Some of the farmers poled hog on last Saturday.

Rev. Hanford walks from Sardis to his appointments here.

Mr. James Ringo and lady, of —, are visiting at D. L. Wells'. Mrs. R. is a sister of Mrs. Wells.

We learn that Miss Minnie Stevenson is an applicant for the spring term of school here. We think she would make a very desirable teacher, and the trustees will do well to gain her services.

Another 'mash' to record, this time a spring. Young man, drive rough over the slow places. Patrick Henry wanted liberty or death; General Grant wanted a third term; one man offered his kingdom for a horse, and "Reporter"

By looking over the map of the world you will see that Murphysville lies between 38 degrees, 45 minutes, and 45 degrees, and 38 minutes north latitude. And we find by examination it is on a perfect level with the Ohio River, and situated near the center of Mason County, on the Mt. Oliver pike, nine miles from the county seat. The beautiful village has seventy-eight inhabitants, not including six hundred and forty dogs, which seem to be worthless curs and no man's property. Its location is most charming, being on the left bank of the lively stream (in mosquito time it is lively) of North Fork. Main street is the principal business street. On this grand thoroughfare the stranger will first notice as he enters from the north the woolen and flouring mill of George Wood, the heaviest man in town, and a jovial, good hearted fellow; next is the general mercantile and drug house of D. L. Wells, who has been confined to his house several weeks from injuries received while trying to go down stairs too fast; down the street a short distance is the blacksmithshop of Mr. Crawford, whose anvils and strong hings make merry that part of the town. On the opposite side of the street is the dry goods and grocery store of W. T. Tomlin, an honest merchant, and a strict business man; next is the office of Drs. Gault & Pollitt, two very pleasant gentlemen, and splendid caterers to the wants of the sick. Down the pike a short distance, on the opposite side of the creek are the school house and post office. The Methodist and Presbyterian have very nice churches here. The latter flock is without a shepherd at present. This is a lively village, and a pleasant place to live. All we want is a few more men o. capital to make it an important point.

A stock company of fifty men will be formed here in the spring, and the bestest man in the community is wanted for president. Who will volunteer? USE EYE OPENS.

A Light Record of Railroad Wreckage.

Philadelphia Times.

The report of railway foreclosures for the year just ended is significant as showing the final windup of the wrecks caused by the panic of 1873. The number of roads foreclosed was sixteen, the number of miles involved $67, and the amount of capital invested $65,426,000. This the lightest record of wreckage in this kind of property since the panic. In 1876 the foreclosures involved $217,848,000 of capital; in 1878, $311,631,000 and in 1880, $263,882,000, while inclusive the foreclosures involved 273 corporations, with a total mileage of 24,000 miles and a capital of $1,428,982,000 or nearly 25 per cent. of the total capital invested in the railway enterprises in the United States. It is probable that but very few of the roads crippled by that disaster now hanging in the hands of receivers, and those few are likely to get on their feet without foreclosure, as is the case with the Philadelphia & Reading.

An extraordinary plot to burn a store at Richmond, Ind., and secure the insurance was revealed.

Dr. Herman Petershausen, of Detroit, attempted in a fit of religious insanity to kill his sister.

The receipts of the National Bank notes at the U. S. Treasury during the past week, were $3,080,000.

Wm. Dickson has been indicted for attempt to corrupt a fellow juror in the last Star Route trial.

The German bark Admiral and a large steamer were reported from London to have been wrecked.

Mrs. Nancy Jones, the first white child born in Anglaize county, died Thursday night at Madisonville.

Indians in Indian Territory dragged an Indian whisky peddler from his house, Thursday, and killed him.

An attempt to cut off debate on the Bill for excluding French pretenders was defeated in the French Senate.

The appointment of the Cincinnati priest to the new See of Grand Rapids has caused a stir among the Michigan Catholics.

The Board of Public Works adopted a resolution looking to an effort for preventing the reduplication of street names.

A battle occurred in Northern Mexico on Friday between the banditti and the militia, in which the former were defeated.

Captain Eads was examined at Washington by the Mississippi River Committee as to his performance of the jetties contract.

Fires—Hastings, Ont., loss $30,000; Winooski, Vt., $200,000; Lynn, Mass., $50,000; Portland, O., $7,000; Chicago, Ill., $28,000.

Arkansas will vote on a constitutional amendment forbidding State railroad aid levee and Holford bonds, amounting, to $11,000,000.

John McDonald and Robert Elliott were shot in a quarrel at Cincinnati by John Wilson, the well-known circus man. Elliott will probably die.

It was a mere joke of a St. Louis Catholic editor that a priest of Perry county, Mo., was going to devote $1,000,000 to the payment of the Cincinnati diocesan debt.

The absence of allusions to the recent visit of the Marquis de Lorne and the Princess Louise; in the opening of the Provincial parliament at Victoria, B. C., causes comment unfavorable to the local Government.

Miss Alice Blaine, daughter of Hon. James G. Blaine, is to become a Catholic and marry Col. Coppinger, of the regular army. Col. Coppinger, is a native of Ireland, and a staunch Catholic. The marriage will take place in Washington next month.

Another explosion occurred in the Steam Heating Company's pipes, corner Broadway and Maiden Lane, New York, severe-injuring two men and damaging property in the vicinity to a considerable extent. These explosions are creating much excitement, and the citizens are taking earnestly about legal proceedings against the company.

An exhibition of works of industry and art has been opened in Aberdeen, and is the first of its kind. Among the exhibitions are specimens of darning and patching, and some of the competitors are described as having raised these homely exercises to such a state of perfection, indeed that even "superior class" would not scorn to wear a coat that had under gone the artistic renovation. This is the thrift that has made Scotland.
